About Coach D'Antoni

Mike D'Antoni has been the head coach of the New York Knickerbockers since May 2008. He is one of the NBA's most successful coaches of the last decade. D'Antoni came to New York after piloting the Phoenix Suns to four straight 50-plus win seasons and three Pacific Division Championships. He was the NBA Coach of the Year in 2004-5.

D'Antoni's passion and love of the game has taken him from the mountains of West Virginia to the professional ranks of the NBA, ABA, across Italy and throughout Europe. His coaching and playing resume spans over three decades of hoop experience on both sides of the Atlantic. USA Basketball named him to the Men's Senior Team Program coaching staff for 2006-2008 as an assistant, and his implementation of a wide-open offense played a major role in Team USA's Gold medal at the 2008 Beijing Olympics. D'Antoni is again serving on Coach Mike Krzyzewski's staff for USA Basketball's Senior Men's Team for 2010-2012.

About the Clinic

The game of basketball is constantly changing. One of the leading innovators in the game is Mike D'Antoni. Coach D'Antoni's imprint on the game is universal - from Europe to the Olympics to the NBA

In this three hour session, Coach D'Antoni and members of his coaching staff will focus on practical instruction and demonstration focusing on :

- current concepts of team offense, strategy and execution
- defense philosophy and concepts
- essential team and individual skills development
- practice planning and game preparation
- special game situations and quick hitters

There will be ample time and opportunity to ask questions and observe demonstrations closely.

No matter what age group, or level of play you coach, this clinic is an exciting opportunity to learn from the best and bring something back to help improve your coaching and your team's play.

Please note that attendance to the clinic is limited – so register now and don't miss out.
